Learning Outside the Classroom (LOtC)

September 2021-22

LOtC Mark (Gold)

Introduction:

At William Patten school the importance of a varied and relevant curriculum is recognised. We believe that learning should be enjoyable and that children should be active in their learning. As part of a broad and balanced curriculum, learning outside the classroom (LOtC) plays an important part in ensuring that learning experiences are varied and relevant. LOtC at William Patten involves the use of the school and its grounds, as well as providing access to a range of locations, venues and experiences through the range of educational visits and trips on offer. We believe that these experiences should be frequent and progressive, across all areas of the curriculum and that all children should have access to LOtC

Aims

Through the range of LOtC offered, we aim to ensure that children -

- Experience – a range of experiences, frequent and progressive
- Develop confidence, self-awareness and skills (e.g. responsibility for self and others, working in a team, leadership, communication, problem solving)
- Learn new ideas, facts and concepts in a real world context
- Grow through challenge and become more independent
- Demonstrate achievement – through awards, school/setting displays and school events
- Increase motivation and willingness to learn – contributing to raised levels of attainment
- Broaden horizons and raise aspiration – believing they can achieve

Achievement of these aims will be supported through -

1. Planning high-quality provision of Learning Outside the Classroom (LOtC) experiences
2. Ensuring that all age groups receive a wide range of experiences and activities
3. Recognising different learning styles and taking into consideration the fact that some learners learn best through a hands-on approach, actively exploring the physical world around them.
4. Providing frequent activities which allow for progression in both experiences and learning
5. Involving children in shaping their learning, for example through input into and review and evaluation of LOtC

Ethos for Successful Learning Outside the Classroom

In the early years, outside play will form a strong part of all children's learning experiences. From the provision of quality planned play experiences through to child initiated, children will be learning through language, problem solving, taking risks and overcoming challenges. Observations by key adults will form an integral part of the process.

Children are given opportunities to take their learning beyond the play areas and make use of the school and its grounds. Provision will be supported by workshops provided by visitors to the school and an involvement with the recently developed rooftop terrace, as well as educational visits in line with the Educational visits policy.

In Key Stage 1 and 2, children are given frequent opportunities to use the school and grounds for curricular work, to develop their self-confidence and promote team-work. Provision will be supported by external visitors offering workshops and focused learning experiences beyond the classroom, as well as regular access to the recently developed rooftop terrace and a range of educational trips and visits in line with the educational trips policy.

Older children will have the opportunity to take part in a residential trip

Implementing the Policy

Planning:

LOtC will be planned with specific learning intentions and outcomes identified. LOtC will involve use of the school and its grounds, including the recently developed rooftop terrace, as well as the edible garden (as supported by Trees for Cities' in line with the school's environment and sustainability policy and planting and sowing overview). It will also involve a range of educational visits to identified venues and locations. Opportunities for LOtC will be considered as part of the 'school context' aspect of planning. These are indicated on the Knowledge and Skills Progression Maps for each subject. These provide further evidence as to how LOtC is embedded across the curriculum and supports the acquisition of key knowledge, as well as the development of key skills, identified for each subject. The inclusion of LOtC on whole school curriculum mapping also evidences the extent to which this the provision for this is continuous and progressive.

Child protection will be an integral part of the planning, including safeguarding considerations at an appropriate level. In line with the schools Inclusion Policy, SEN Policy, Educational Visits Policy and individual subject policies, planning will include provision for those with special educational needs, including physical and learning, and medical requirements.

Where possible, external providers will have the LOtC quality mark and all should provide the highest possible experiences, with safety effectively managed. The risk assessment of the external provider will be requested in the early planning stages and in line with the educational trips policy, the school's own risk assessment will be informed by a site visit and identify the overall benefits of the trip, as well as the control measures needed to address identified risk.

Further opportunities for LOtC: where external conditions allow, such as overnight snowfall, experiences should be used for teaching and evaluated for outcomes for children as part of our LOtC ethos.

Evidence: can be from planning, photos, reports from children and should be collected centrally for evaluation. This evidence can be used in future planning, allowing for progression in challenge across the school. It will help with both formative and summative assessments for children, and the effectiveness of LOtC within the school. Activities involving LOtC should be communicated to parents and carers through the school's bi-weekly newsletter and website.

Risk Assessment: will be completed, using the agreed pro forma and taking in to account the age and number of children, and the staff ratios required in line with the educational visits policy. The aim is to identify and manage the risks to those taking part, rather than be risk averse and not take part.
