

source

online

social media

anchor tag
bias

blog

WordPress

WordPress

We are connected

fake news

hyperlink

neutral point
of view

online
bullying

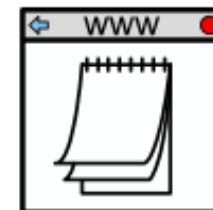

comments

plausible

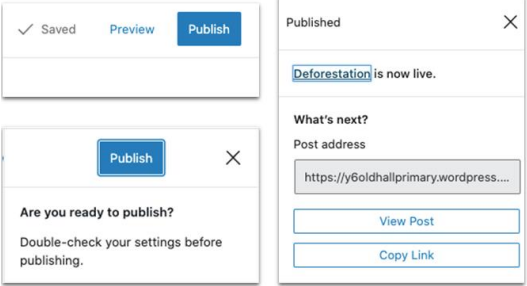

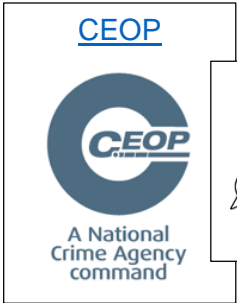

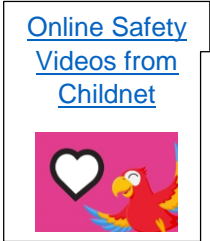

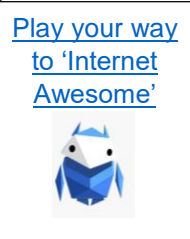

reliable

website

Computing – We are connected: Y6 Vocabulary Mat

Subject Specific Vocabulary		Pictures	Exciting Books/Websites
blog	A website consisting of short articles, presented in reverse date order, typically inviting responses.
hyperlink	Web technology allowing web pages to link to other pages, for example to show the source of information.
social media	Websites and apps that allow users to create and share content or to participate in conversations with one or more other users.
source	The origin of a piece of information – where or whom it comes from.
plausible	An argument or story that is likely or probable. One that many might believe.
reliable	A source that can be trusted, based on authority, expertise or experience.
fake news	A fictional, or partly fictional, story presented as news.	Key Knowledge	Other information online bullying (cyberbullying)	Deliberate, typically repeated or extreme harassment conducted via the Internet or other network technologies.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> To know how to have a civil discussion online. Search engines select results based on keywords and the number and quality of inbound links. 	 Fake news can spread quickly because of social media. People pass on fictional stories without realising they have been made up. Then, many people linking to a site will result in a higher ranking on Google, which can make a site seem more reliable, when actually it is still 'fake news'. anchor tag bias	Disproportionate weight given to one perspective, typically because it accords with the author's own.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Hyperlinks are central to the World Wide Web as they connect pages to each other. A critical perspective is important when reading content online. Fake news is common due to the ease of creating and amplifying content online.
neutral point of view	A balanced perspective where all sides of an argument are presented fairly.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The minimum age for many social media accounts is 13. There is special legal protection for the personal data of children under 13. There are many different types of online bullying. There are charities you can speak in these situations, including CEOP and Childline. Always speak to a trusted adult, like a parent/carers, too. 	